

Josh,

Thank you for your further communication regarding the University's vaccination policy.

The University is mindful and protective of the rights of individuals in the University community to seek exemption from the COVID-19 vaccination requirement on the basis of religious beliefs or creed. We recognize the University's obligation to accommodate persons who, for reasons of religion or creed, do not consider themselves able to be vaccinated.

The University has granted your request based on your religious beliefs. While the University has granted your request to be exempt from the vaccination policy, you are required to comply with a twice weekly rapid antigen testing program. For more information on Western's testing program, please visit, <https://www.uwo.ca/coronavirus/vaccine.html#rapid-testing>. Please note that should you not comply with the testing program, you will not be permitted to attend on campus.

The testing program and/or other required precautions may change from time to time to ensure that it is consistent with the latest science. The University reserves the right to revisit this grant of accommodation due to change in law or circumstances.

Thank you,
